1973

Memories . . .
America's Youth in Concert
Third Annual European Concert Tour
July 4, 1973-August 7, 1973

England, France, Belgium
Luxemburg, W. Germany, Austria
Italy, New York

From New York to London, Paris, Rome and back again . . . Thus were the travels of America's Youth In Concert-1973. Thousands heard them perform, thousands cheered them, and thousands more remember them.

May these few pages help you cherish the unforgettable moments of your 1973 European Concert Tour.

The lovely Austrian city of Salzburg was a favorite for all. The concerts were outstanding, the people were friendly, and the scenery was breathtaking. The whispered promise of everyone was a vow to return oneday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lynn S. Geddes

AMERICA'S YOUTH
IN CONCERT
...THE REALIZATION
OF A DREAM

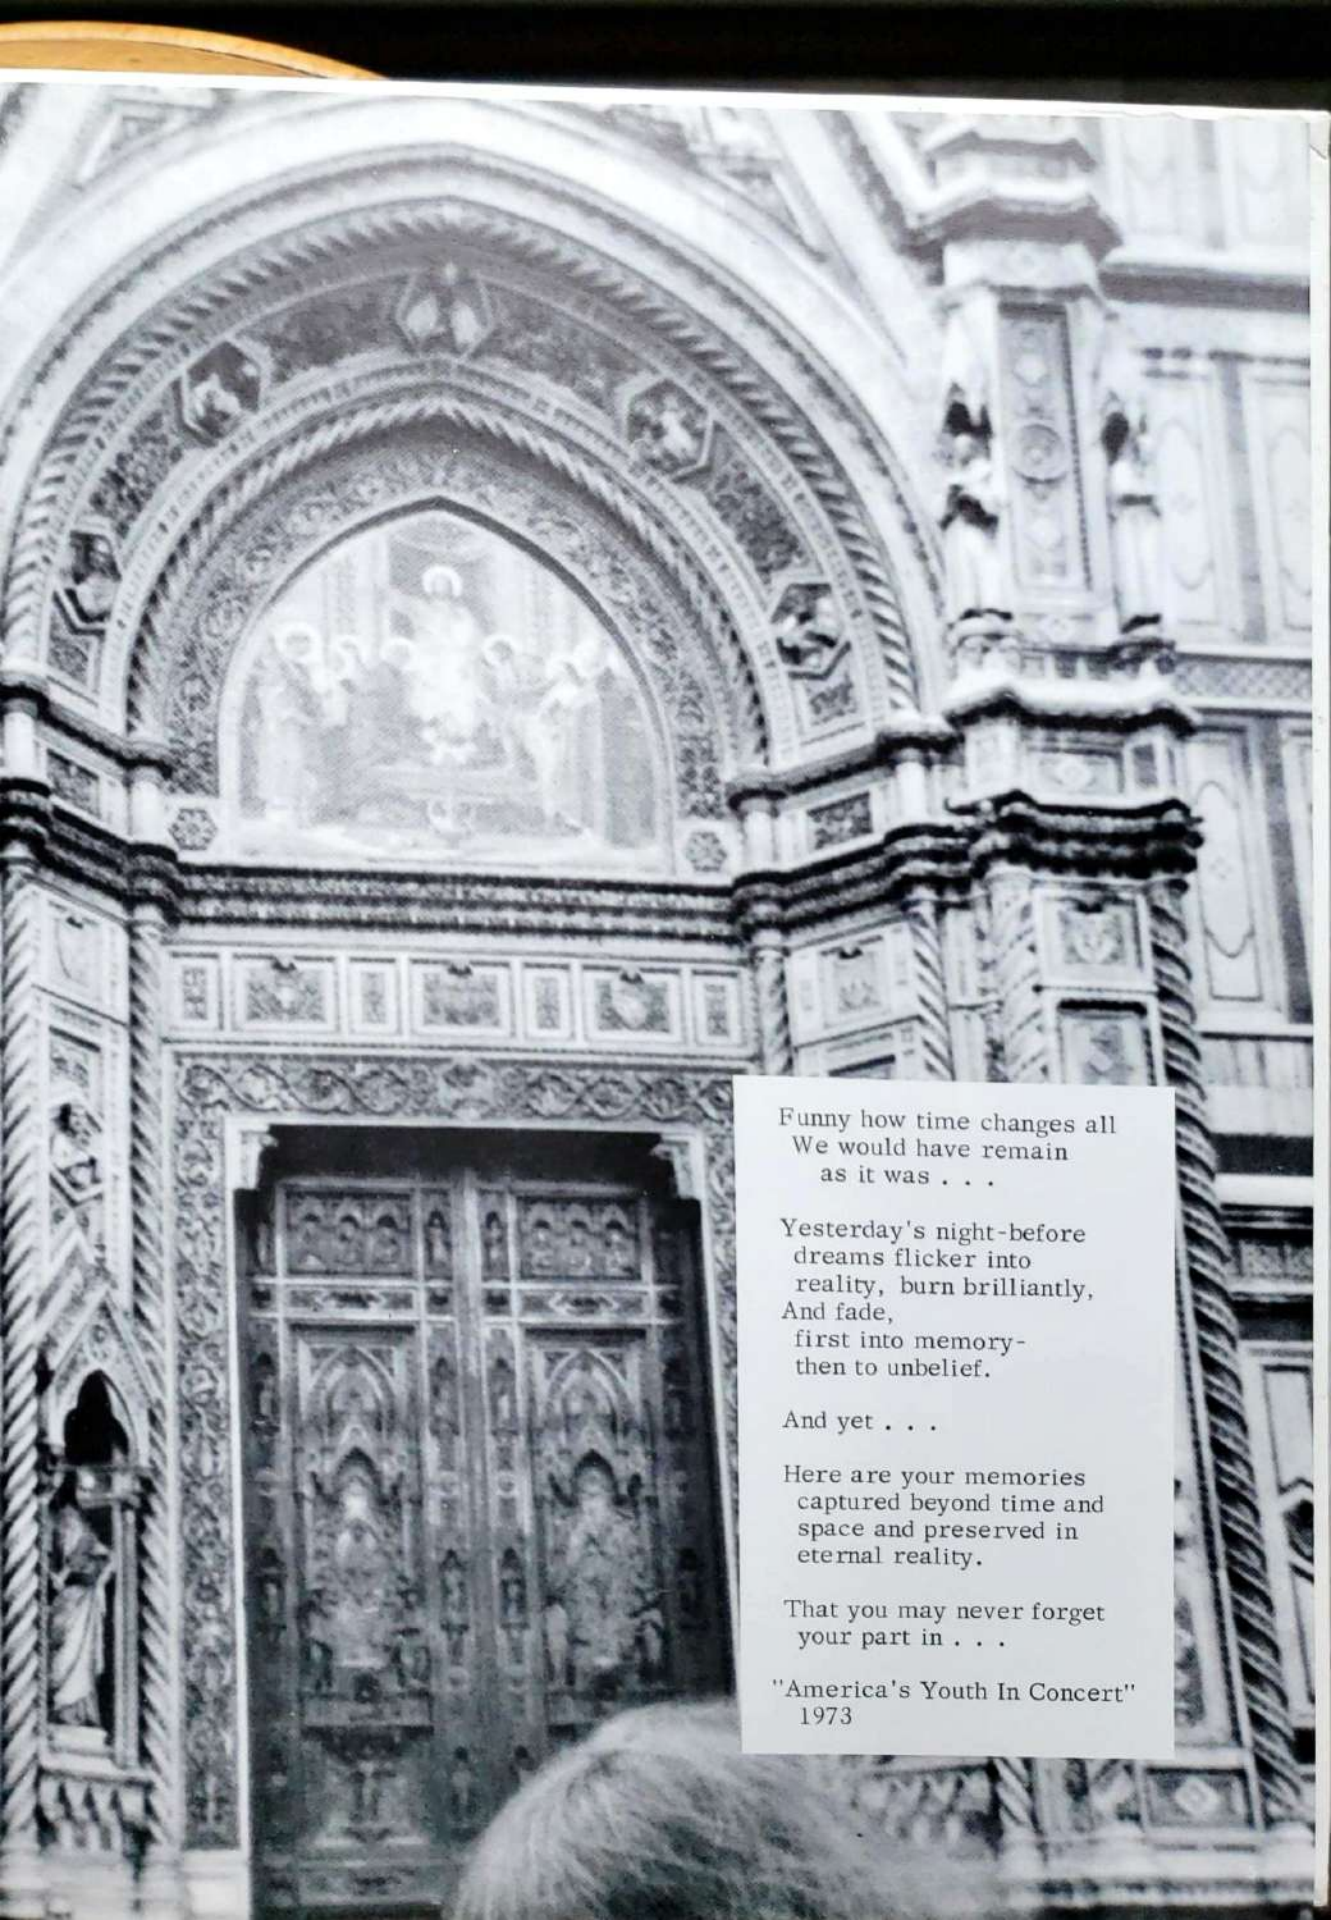

On June 28, 1971, the first 500 participants of America's Youth In Concert came together for the first time. Their gathering was the beginning of the fulfillment of a dream. The dream, conceived in the mind of Lynn Stewart Geddes, was that a group of young Americans might be brought together to dramatize to the world the fine quality and high character of American youth, to motivate and reward dedicated performance by youthful music students, and to provide participating students and outstanding education experience. America's Youth In Concert assembled to fulfill that high purposed dream.

Dreams are on-going things and this dream has experienced continual fulfillment. Since its conception, over 2000 young Americans have performed under the auspices of "America's Youth In Concert". Each year when the participants first gathered together, they were an assembly of individuals, strangers to one another. But they had a common bond of music--the common interest, the common goal, the common dedication to music as an art and a universal language, and to the performance of music as the highest form of human cooperation.

The list of credits these young Americans have amassed is endless and voices of acclaim still ring throughout Europe and America. Thousands upon thousands of lives have been touched by these students through the performance of their talents for the benefit and enjoyment of others.

Lynn Stewart Geddes, founder and President of Universal Academy for Music, with his lovely wife, Carolyn, constantly at his side, struggled through the many difficulties and frustrations of seeing the idea brought into reality. The Geddes' were the originating force behind America's Youth In Concert and continue to provide the motivating force behind it.

Funny how time changes all
We would have remain as it was . . .

Yesterday's night-before dreams flicker into reality, burn brilliantly,
And fade,
first into memory-
then to unbelief.

And yet . . .

Here are your memories captured beyond time and space and preserved in eternal reality.

That you may never forget your part in . . .

"America's Youth In Concert"
1973

It is difficult to picture all that is Europe! The beautiful St. Marc's Cathedral in Venice, the sight of the Olympic Games in Munich . . . The sun adds an increased dimension to the beauty of St. Peter's in Rome and to the Black Forest in West Germany.

The concerts remain above and beyond description!! Notre Dame Cathedral in Paris, St. Lorence Cathedral in Monsee, Austria, the town squares and plazas still ring with the inspiring music of almost 700 young Americans.

To most Americans, Europe is symbolized by her monuments; England is the Tower of London and Big Ben, Paris, the Eiffel Tower and Notra Dame Cathedral, Austria, the Alps and the "Sound of Music", Italy the canals of Venice, the David, the Colosseum and the Vatican.

The students of America's Youth In Concert-1973 visited all of these famous sights and many more, but to them, Europe became symbolized, not so much by her monuments and tourist attractions, but by her people: The butchers and bakers, the taxi drivers, guides, bus drivers, store keepers, etc . . . This is what we remember most.

It has been said that art is the creative expression of man's emotions. Whatever the form art takes, whether music or painting or sculpture or written verse, out of Europe have come its greatest creators.

The Staff

Academy Staff

Mr. Frank Wirig is Vice President at Universal Academy For Music. Any modern office must operate smoothly and efficiently and among Mr. Wirig's varied responsibilities is to insure that the office staff operates according to schedule.

FRANK WIRIG
VICE PRESIDENT
UNIVERSAL ACADEMY FOR MUSIC

Dr. William Ramsey is Dean of Music at Universal Academy For Music. This position requires many hours listening to the taped auditions and placing the students in the various positions within the performing ensembles. Long before the tour begins, Dr. Ramsey becomes quite familiar with the talents of the students. Dr. Ramsey also serves on the faculty of Utah State University as Professor of Music. Mrs. Phyllis Ramsey and Cheryl accompanied Dr. Ramsey on the tour.

DR. WILLIAM RAMSEY
DEAN OF MUSIC
UNIVERSAL ACADEMY FOR MUSIC

Professor Frank Piersol, Conductor-Unit X Concert Band.

Professor Jane Hardester, Conductor-Unit X Choir, and Mr. Ira Hardester.

Professor James Jorgensen, Conductor-Unit B Concert Band.

Music Directors

The task of forming over 550 musically talented young people into cohesive, balanced performing groups fell to these individuals. They brought to the Academy national reputations as music educators, plus, their great personal musical talents and conducting skill. Their companions added an immeasurable dimension, aiding their mates in every way and helping with the students as well.

Professor Theron Kirk, Conductor-Unit Y Choir.

Professor Abraham Chavez, Jr., Conductor-Unit Y Symphony Orchestra

Office Staff

GLEND A HEILMAN: REGISTRAR

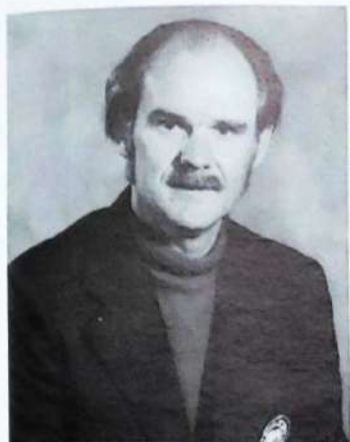

Before the tour departs for Europe, the one name the students become most familiar with is Glenda Heilman. She is responsible for student invitations, auditions, selection, and many other details. She spends hundreds of hours behind her typewriter to insure the success and completion of the tour.

SECRETARIAL STAFF

The amount of mail that Universal Academy for Music's secretaries produce during the year is staggering. It is difficult to imagine. These are people behind the scenes whom the students never see, yet they are the nerve center at Universal Academy for Music.

Tour Directors

Being responsible for a tour composed of almost 300 people is not an easy job. There are hundreds of details to look after and little problems to solve. Even when the tour director is tired he must carry with him an ever ready smile to assure everyone that everything is all right. These special people are invaluable to the success of the concert tour.

Chaperones

For four weeks, these were the men and women who served as chaperones for the students of Units B, X, and Y. However, their duties did not end there. They also served as substitute parents for their homesick charges, emergency instrument repairmen, first aid assistants and a hundred other assorted occupations. The general well being and care of the students was entrusted to the watchful eyes of these outstanding individuals.

For most parents, four or five students can keep things pretty busy. Imagine the scenes with 45! Universal Academy for Music's chaperones filled a void in many young lives and became parents away from home. The students grew to love their adopted parents and experiences their love returned. Many friendships were begun that will no doubt last through the years.

What would any tour be like without busses? We had ours from Rome to London! They really aren't all that bad except when they have a flat tire or some mechanical difficulty. And who said European bus drivers never get lost??? Ask anyone from Unit X how long they wandered around London in their busses trying to find Egham . . .

Who can think of England and not think of Big Ben, the Tower Bridge, the Changing of the Guard at Buckingham, the Tower of London, Shakespeare, Camelot and the London bombings during World War II.

ENGLAND:

Where policemen are called bobbies
And everyone drives on the wrong side of the road.

Where dollars are counted in pounds
And everybody queues up to wait.

Where cookies are biscuits and
French Fries are chips.
Where car hoods are bonnets and the trunk is a boot.

And everyone knows "Scotland Yard"
is not the city park in Edinburgh.

England's Past

This island kingdom stands as an eternal monument to the countless millions of stubborn Britishers who have loved and defended her through the centuries.

Throughout her history, England has seen such colorful people as Henry VIII, with his six wives, Queen Elizabeth I and her glorious reign, William Shakespeare, the tragic figure of Charles I on the executioner's block, and Oliver Cromwell. All Americans are familiar with George III and his role in the American Revolution. Even today we witness the beauty and grandeur of the English Court in the person of Queen Elizabeth II.

ABOVE is the beautiful Royal Holloway College, a part of the University of London. Here was home while we were in England. The comfortable rooms and the delicious food made it a memorable experience for all.

Queen Victoria built this massive memorial in honor of her German husband, Prince Albert. Directly across the street stands the great Royal Albert Hall, a concert hall of immense dimensions. America's Youth in Concert-1971 performed here.

Londoners, during the centuries, have listened to the finest musicians in the world. England can boast of such musical personalities as Purcell, Weber, Bull, and Ralph Vaughn-Williams. Mozart performed here when he was only-eight years old. G. F. Handel came to England in 1710 and for the next fifty years London listened to his music. The "Messiah" was first performed in London in 1743 and Handel last conducted it in 1759, a few days prior to his death.

England has so much to offer her foreign visitors and has given so much to the world through the centuries that it isn't difficult to understand why England has so much to boast about.

Crossing the Channel

Who could forget the crossing of the English Channel? . . . high winds drenching you with salt spray, sea-gulls riding the wind currents above the ship, treacherous walking on rocking boat decks, turning stomachs . . . and the first glimpse of the fabled white cliffs of Dover . . . Anyone remember those delicious box lunches???

France Concert Locations

PARIS:

- *Notre Dame Cathedral
- *Luxemburg Gardens
- *La Trinite Cathedral

Exotic perfumes, good food and romanticism all come home to France--and that means Paris. America's Youth In Concert were to learn that beautiful music has a welcome home here also, surrounded by some of the greatest expressions of human accomplishment in the arts.

Rising out of the Seine like a massive Gothic ship, Notre Dame guards La Cite', oldest section of Paris. The cathedral turns down hundreds of request to perform here each year. Unit B's performance here insured a return engagement.

Anyone who has ever been a guest on the underground transportation systems of any of America's large cities can really appreciate the Paris Metro! The clean, quiet (they ride on rubber tires), coaches provide a contrast to the oppressive heat and clanging of the American counterparts. For many students it was their first experience with underground transportation.

The little town of Jouy en Josas outside Paris was our home in France. The peaceful campus, nestled beneath the towering trees of the French countryside provided a solitude away from the bustle of busy Paris, only a few miles away.

France's Past

The mention of France brings to mind such notables of the past as Charlemagne, Joan of Arc, Louis XVI, Marie Antoinette, Napoleon and Charles de Gaulle.

Long held captive by the bonds of feudalism, France struggled for centuries to gain national unity and identity. She has been a kingdom, an empire, a vassel state and a republic. The "Fifth Republic" and the current one, was established only a little over fifteen years ago. With her unstable governments of the past, France has suffered much. She fell victim to invading German armies three times within seventy years.

Paris is often called "the Capital of France and the world". The peaceful Seine River and all the beauties of the city are beyond human expression. The Louvre, largest museum in the world, houses the greatest collection of priceless art in the world. Here is the home of Mona Lisa, the Venus de Milo, and many, many, other famous pieces.

The French Court was a great patron of the arts. Mozart performed regularly for Marie Antoinette. Haydn was brought to Paris and there wrote his Paris Symphonies. Rameau is considered one of the four most important composers of the Baroque period. Berlioz ranks with the greatest of all composers and Claude DeBussy was the foremost composer of the Impressionist Movement. Even today, the Spirit that is France still breathes and invites the world to partake.

Belgium - Luxemburg - West Germany Concert Locations

HERENTALS:

*St. John the Baptist Church

NAMUR:

*Marie Louise Park

MALINES:

*Cathedral of St. Rombout

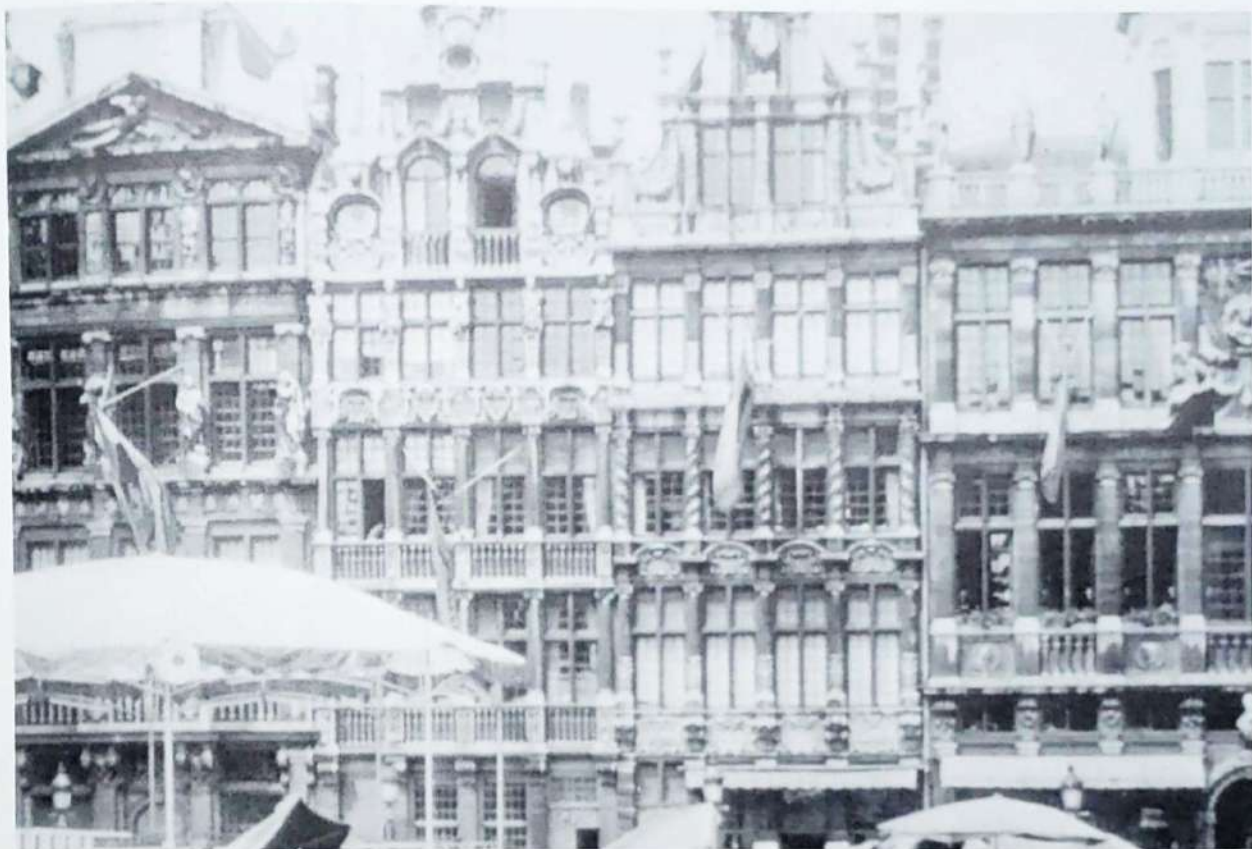

Our tour schedule only allowed two days for Belgium-- but they were complete days. The concerts were impressive and the old Flemish castles and scenery were unique.

The tiny country of Luxemburg saw us only for a lunch stop-over and then we were gone. That night we stayed in Stuttgart, West Germany, and then, after lunch in Munich, we were off to Salzburg.

At Bastogne is a memorial dedicated to the American armies for their action and victory during the Battle of the Bulge. The 48 states are listed and the story of the battle is cut in granite as a shrine to those who fought and died to destroy the German military monster.

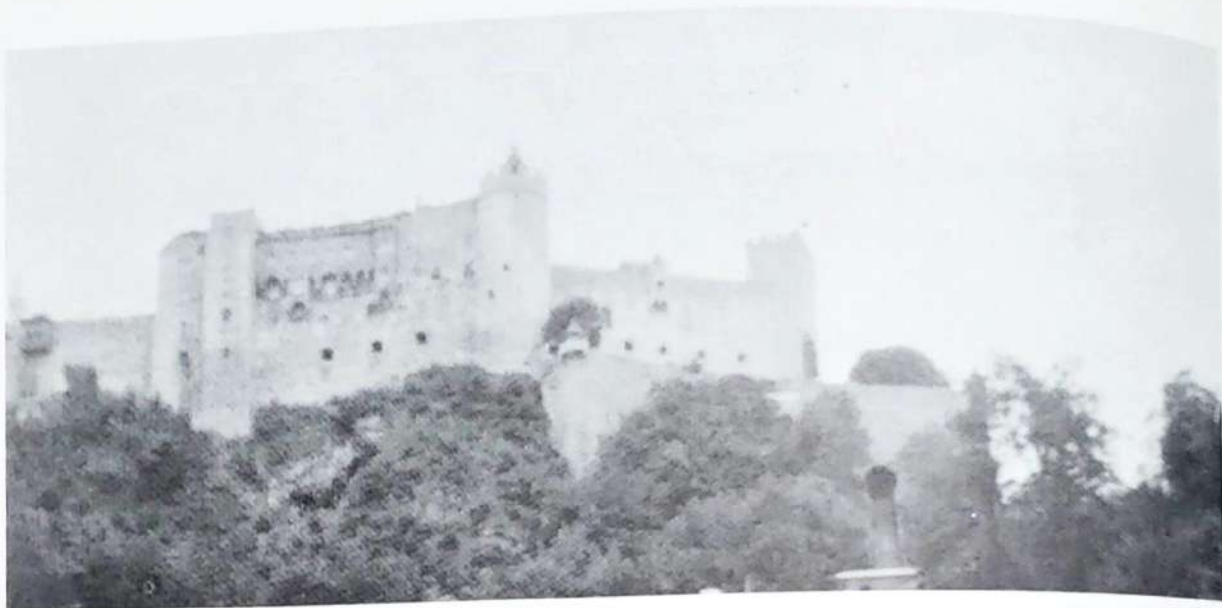

The picturesque Grand Platz of Brussels with its magnificent Town Hall is a beautiful sight, especially so at night when all of the buildings are ablaze with light.

Belgium's Past

This small country, not much larger than the state of Maryland, is one of the most densely populated areas of Europe. Because of her position in the Low Countries between France, Germany, Luxembourg, and Holland she has served as the doorway to Europe and, unfortunately, the battle ground of Europe. Some of the greatest military battles have been fought here. At Waterloo, Wellington defeated Napoleon. The last major German offensive action during World War II was crushed during the Battle of the Bulge.

Old Ghent, with her old castles and cathedrals, provides a vivid glance into the past. Here the Flemish masters lived, painted their masterpieces, and died. Hubert and Jan Van Eyck lead the list of Flemish painters and are said to be the inventors of oil painting. The "Adoration of the Mystic Lamb," their most famous painting, hangs in St. Bravo's Cathedral.

Salzburg, Austria Concert Locations

SALZBURG:

- *St. Peter's Cathedral
- *Residenz Platz

MONSEE:

- *St. Lorence Cathedral

Few cities in the world are as synonymous with music as is Salzburg, home of some of the greatest composers. Narrow streets, quaint shops, warm, friendly people, characterize this favorite city.

Austria's Past

The massive fortress dominates the skyline in Salzburg. It houses one of the oldest convents in the world, dating to the 10th century. The fortress looms over the Old City of Salzburg and shades the quiet narrow streets.

Austria is a new nation; she became a sovereign state in 1955. She is about the size of the State of Maine and is the remnant of an empire that once stretched from Naples to the North Sea, from Hungary to Portugal, and across the Atlantic to include the Spanish possessions in America. The Hapsburg family ruled this empire, named after them, from 1275 until 1918.

One cannot think of Austria without thinking of music. Many of the world's greatest composers were born here. Vienna was said to be the musical capital of the world. It was the home of Beethoven, Schubert, Brahms, Strauss and many others. From Salzburg came Michael Haydn and the Mozarts.

Austria gave us the waltz, the polka, and the "Sound of Music." The beautiful Austrian Alps, the quaint villages, friendly people and excellent food always provides a quiet stopover away from the large European metropolitan areas.

lovers on lonely canals, the Bridge of Sighs, San Marco Square, the glass factories with their priceless Venetian Glass, and especially the Canals . . . For hundreds of years Venetians have walked the same pathways and plied the same waterways. Marco Polo grew up here and from here sailed forth and discovered the Orient for the Western World.

Venice

Venice was -everything everyone had always dreamed it would be. . .Gondolas serenading

The opportunity to perform for the officers and crew of the USS Nashville, Flagship of the U.S. Navy's 6th Fleet, in Venice Harbor, was an unexpected plus for Unit-Y. One of the officers heard their performance in San Marco Square and invited them to perform on board. All their instruments were transported by the navy to and from the ship.

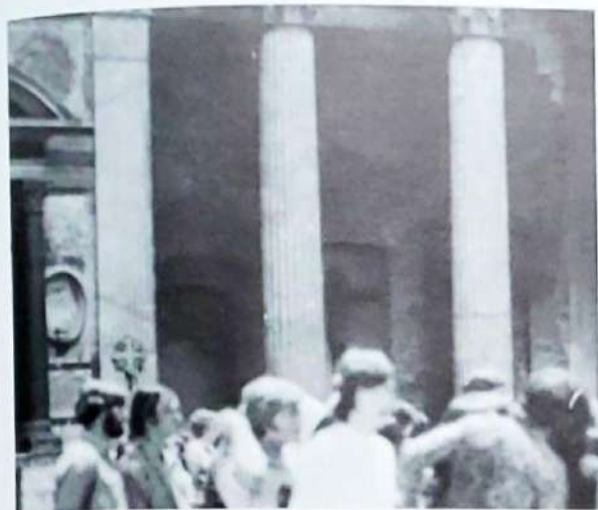

Florence

Although separated by only a few hours bus ride from Rome, Florence seems like another world. The turmoil and oppressive heat of a city like Rome seems far away. Florence is peaceful and quiet even with all the tourists.

Home of some of the greatest treasures of art, Florence, with its many museums, churches, and villas, is a mecca for art lovers from all over the world.

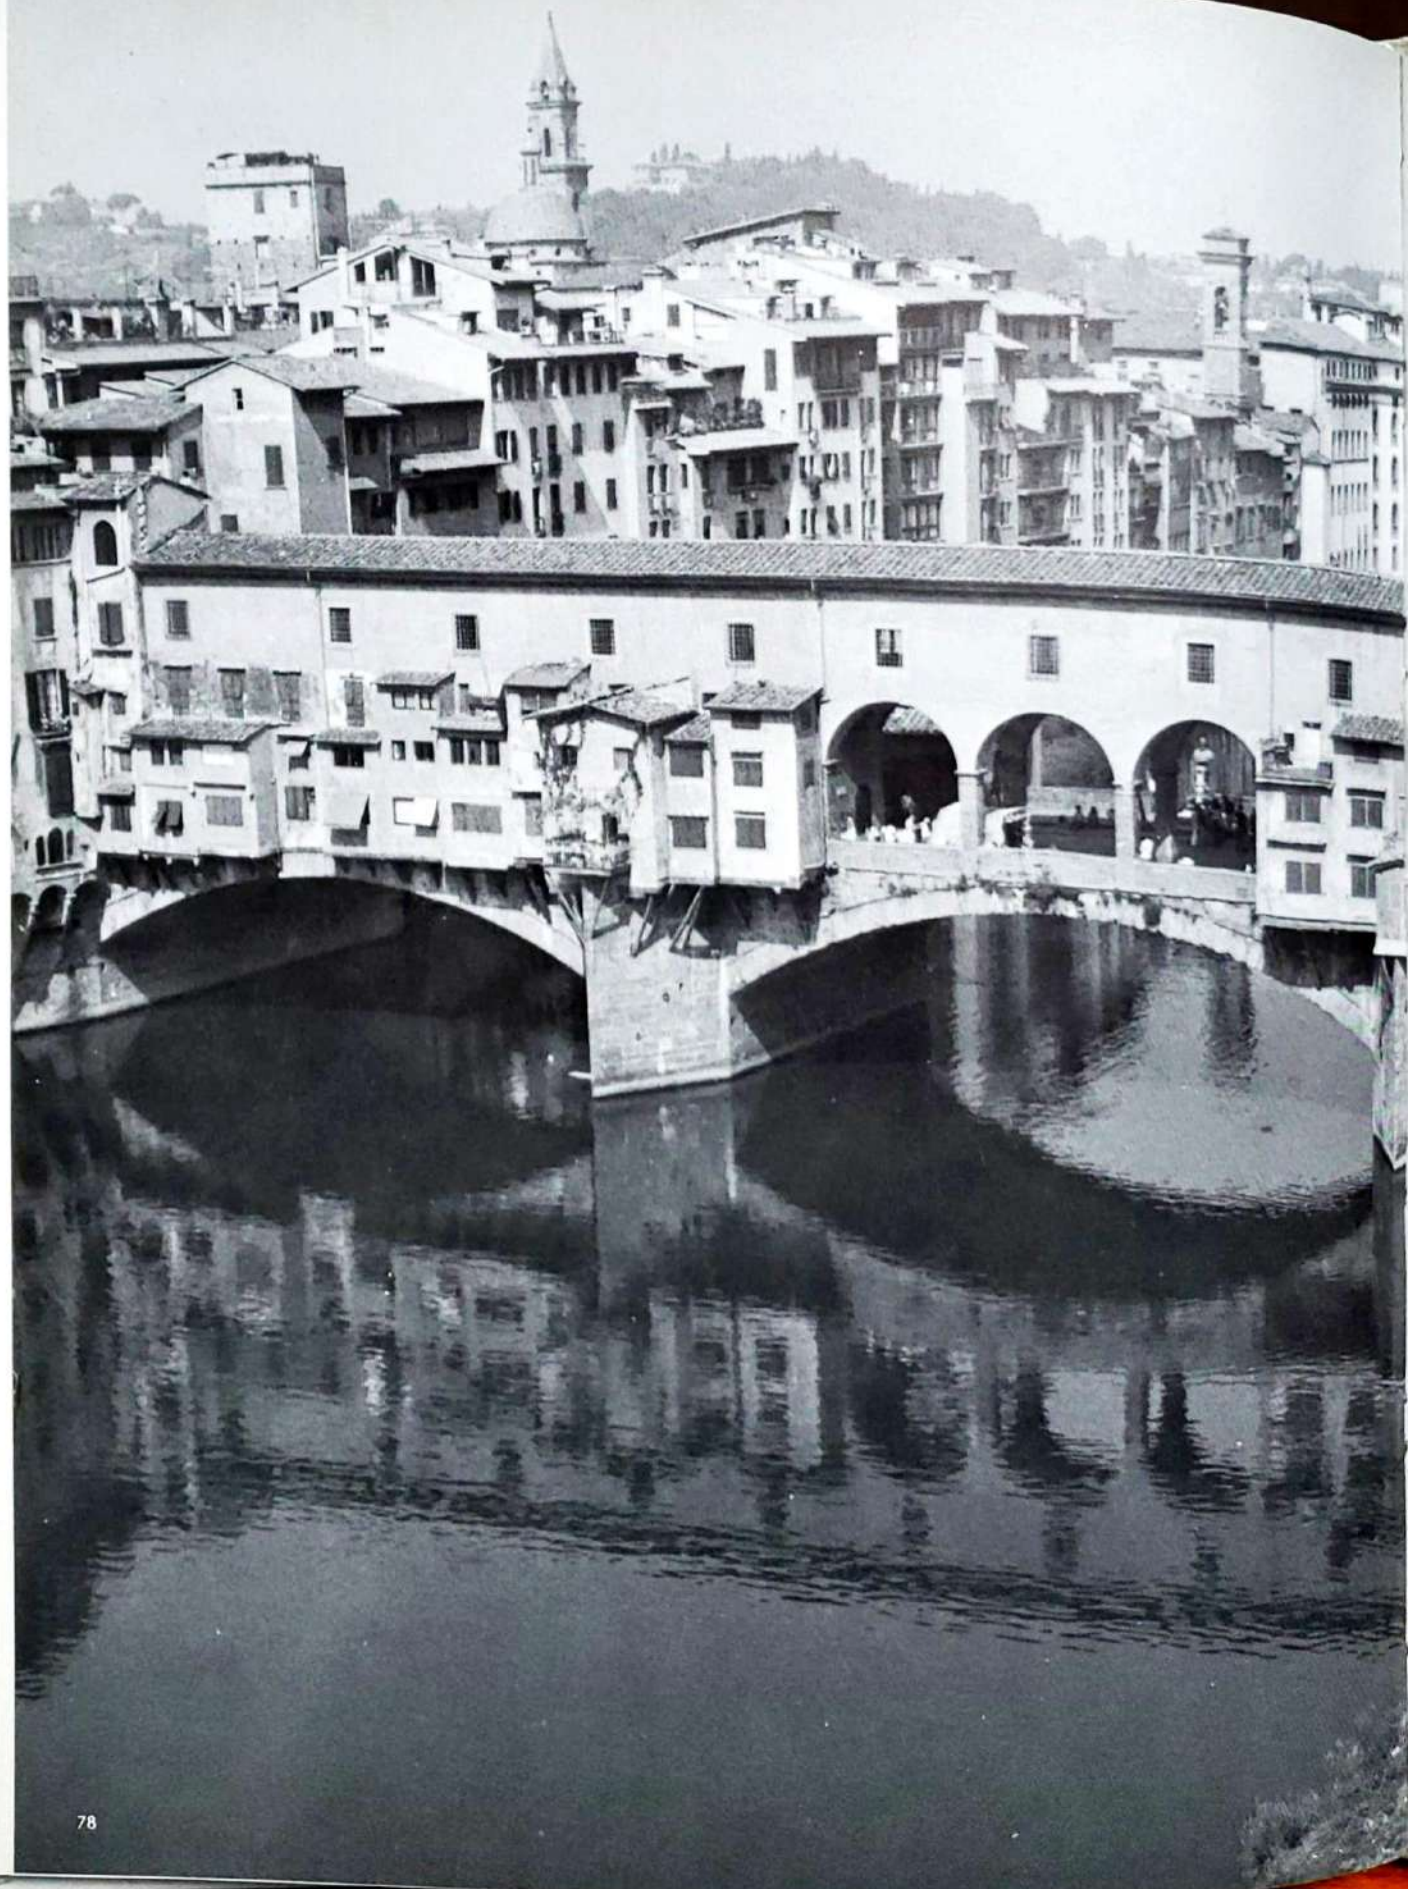

The David by Michaelangelo, rests in one of the National museums. Many more of his works grace this lovely city for this was his home.

Within the churches in Florence are buried some of the greatest people to have ever lived. Galileo, Machiavelli . . .

Rome

Rome, ancient of the Gods and city of emperors. Julius Caesar, Mark Antony, Caesar Augustus, and Cleopatra all walked along these ancient streets.

Who can grasp in words what Rome was? Who can tell it all? For she was the center of the civilized world and could boast the best and greatest of man's creative genius.

All roads led to Rome and ended here . . . The Roman Forum, the center of the center of the world.

The Vatican City, often visualized as St. Peter's Cathedral, is the spiritual center for the world's 800 million Catholics.

OPPOSITE: A glance at the ruins of the massive colosseum hints at the greatness and majesty that was Rome. One Italian guide was heard to remark while pointing out the catacombs inside the colosseum, "And this is the place where they buried the Christians that were eaten alive by the lions." Really now!!!

All units enjoyed the peaceful solitude of Domus Mariae. Whether the first European location or the last, the quiet grounds, the fountains, and the good food were appreciated by everyone. And after a short walk to the bus stop, all Rome lay at one's feet.

Italy's Past

Western civilization had its beginnings in this boot shaped country of southern Europe. There is so much in Italy that to describe it all would be impossible. From the beautiful Alps in the north to the sunny beaches in the south, Italy is packed with the greatness of yesterday. Nowhere else can such a vision of the past be seen with such clarity.

The canals of Venice, home of Marco Polo, the art wonders of Florence, the ruins of Pompeii, ancient Rome and on and on . . . the list is endless.

Italy could also be called the birthplace of western music. For over a thousand years the Catholic Church was the most important influences on western music and the church was centered in Rome.

The beautiful Spanish Steps in Rome. During the summer the steps assume a Flea Market atmosphere. Many people come here to sell their handmade wares.

The first opera was written and performed in Italy. That took place in 1660 and today the most famous opera houses are in Italy. It is said that music truly has its home here, but, so do so many other things. Our language, our political systems, our legal systems and on and on and on. It is another endless list.

New York

Both in England and Italy, as the aircraft's wheels left the ground and the plane surged into the heavens, there was a tremendous roar from the students in expectation of heading toward home. Yet even with the cheering there was sadness. Behind them lay Europe and all their experiences and waiting ahead was their final concert in New York.

The long hours of trans-Atlantic flight soon ended. An ever greater cheer erupted as the aircraft touched down at Kennedy International Airport. Next came the lines of U.S. Customs, then a few hours rest before the final concert at Town Hall.

Words are hard to find to describe the emotions one witnessed following the Town Hall Concert. The tears flowed freely and unashamed. Young Americans were suddenly very proud of America and their citizenship. They were proud of home and themselves and their successes.

They cried for joy and sadness and some just cried, but no one was left untouched in some way.

...AND THE END DREW NEAR

But endings are only figures of speech,
For they never happen.
They're only momentary pauses scattered amidst time and space and change only our way of looking at things.
Because yesterday never ends . . . it only changes.
And its hopes, its goals, its dreams and memories are reborn with each new rising of tomorrow's sun.

America's Youth In Concert-1973 never ended.
It lives! And your hopes and dreams, your goals and your aspirations,
And your memories assure its immortality.
Summers may come and go and the years may carry you apart,
The faces may fade and the names may vanish,
But your memories are the backward looking dreams that bridge the "ending pauses"
and link time with time,
And bind you to the immortality of a dream . . .

May this yearbook help you to remember the Summer of '73

A TRIBUTE TO AMERICA'S YOUTH IN CONCERT - 1973

You came from all over America and your talents, your smiles, your enthusiasm, and zest for life came with you. Yet more important than that, you brought yourselves and shared that with the world. That is the greatest talent! Sure, it wasn't always easy going. There were problems, tempers flared, and there were disappointments. But think back, what do you remember most? The good times or the bad.

I wonder if each of you fully realize just what you accomplished. Perhaps you may never know fully, but this much we know. You accepted a challenge, a difficult challenge, to prove to the world the fine quality, outstanding character and high ideals of American youth. May you never think that you failed to meet that great challenge. For you met it and you met admirably and with honor to yourselves, your parents and your country.

As the great American pioneers blazed new trails into the future, you too were pioneers, blazing new trails. You added an impressive musical dimension to make Universal Academy For Music's "America's Youth In Concert" a symbol of American strength and goodness to literally tens of thousands of European people. For that accomplishment you can take pride.

We were humbled and honored and we take pride to have been privileged to associate with you during the 1973 Concert Tour. We salute you, America's Youth In Concert, as the greatest of America's youth and as the source of her strength for the future.
